Albemarle Baptist Association. [Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

AMBERST COUNTY, August 20, 1878. The Albemarle Baptist Association commenced its eighty-seventh annual session to-day at Ebenezer church, in this county. The church is the oldest within the bounds of the Association, being nearly, if not quite, a hundred years old; but there are no secords by which its exact age can be ascertained. The house has been lately remodelled and thoroughly repaired, and presents a neat appearance, as well as the ground around, which has been well cleared, and scats and pulpit arranged for preaching in of the Post-Office Department shows a the grove during the meeting. Even the steady increase, both in the domestic and roads leading to the church have been repaired, evincing the lively interest felt by the community in the meeting of the body. Altogether, the preparations made by the good people have made it a most delightful

The weather was threatening early in the morning, but by the hour appointed for services to commence the sky cleared, and a large congregation and a full delegation from the churches had assembled. The session was organized by electing Rev. A. B. Woodfin moderator, D. P. Powers clerk, and J. T. Randolph treasurer. The intro-ductory sermon was then preached by Rev. S. P. Huff, which was one well suited to the occasion, and well calculated to benefit the large and attentive audience. During an intermission of an hour the crowd partook of the most sensible dinner that has heen seen on such an occasion for many a day. Everything was abundant, and spread out freely, with such a hearty welcome that made us all feel that this was the best place that could have been selected for holding our meeting.

An afternoon session was held by the body in the church, and Rev. G. B. Eager, of Lexington, preached at the stand. In addition to a good delegation a large number of corresponding delegates and visiting brethren reported themselves and were invited to seats. There was rather more than the usual number from Richmond. Among them, Drs. W. E. Hatcher and A. E. Dick-inson, H. K. Etlyson and J. T. Ellyson. After appointing committees and making usual arrangement for business, the Moderator called for reports from standing committees. Very interesting speeches were made on temperance and family worship; which subjects were both well ventilated. The entertainment of the delegates is all that could be desired, and we have the prospect of the most interesting and profitable meeting that has been held for years. H.

The Innocents Abroad. HOW THE RICHMOND EXCURSION AND FISHING

PARTY HAVE FARED. [Correspondence of the Richmond Dispatch.]

CHESAPEAKE BAY, August 21, 1878. The fishing party which left Richmond on Friday last on the schooner Independence, in tow of the steamship Wyanoke, have met with abundant success, and have all been well since leaving home. They have taken thousands of fish and crabs, and have spent a most giorious time. There was a very heavy storm here on Monday night, but their vessel rode the waves like a thing of life and weathered the blow finely. Yellow-Fever. RAVAGES OF THE TERRIBLE DISEASE IN THE

SOUTH-DESPAIR IN LIST-SAD SCENES AMONG THE STRICKEN COMMUNITIES. [By telegraph to the New York Herald.]

GRENADA, MISS., via WATER VALLEY, August 20 .- At this hour 195 persons are in the and otherwise injured, notably the iron city. Of these 133 are prostrated with fever, 60 are up and in bealth, while two of the victims who were prostrated a few days ago have sufficiently recovered to walk around. At 9 o'clock last night only three lights were visible in the town. A dense fog covered the yillage and the banks of the Yalobusba river. Night is the time when the fever is most contagious. Most of the victims have dramatist, who was for a long time a resicontracted the disease by inhaling the foul night vapors while resting their weary and upon the staff of this paper, but is now tired bones in sleep. tired bones in sleep. KILLING THE NEGROES.

Another peculiar phase of the disease here is that it kills the full-blooded negroes, three having succumbed to the monster. Old inhabitants say they never saw it kill the pure Ethiopian before. The patients present a terrible appearance. QUARANTINES.

One of the items of the quarantine in the little towns on the road is the closing of the stores at 5 o'clock P. M. and not allowing them to open until 8 in the morning. The idea is that the night air is filled with contagion, and the men who generally congregate in them after dark may communicate the disease then, when they would be hardly liable to do so in the day-time, unless there was a raging fever in the town similar to village. Some of the towns fire cannon to purify the air, and tar is being burned in many of them. It is hard to get any fruit or vegetables in the hotels, or even in the private houses, as the authorities in those towns who have adopted quarantine regulations have ordered that neither fruits nor vegetables shall be brought into the town, and if any farmer who is ignorant of this order arrives in town with these articles of food he is seized and his whole lot con-

Chickens are in demand, and every meal finds a plate of chicken the leading dish. The scarcity of food leaves but little refuse, and the hogs look as though they were being trained for the race-track. Everything wears the same scared look, and business of all kinds is at a stand-still, except the railroad business. Even out in the country the farmers are frightened, and in one instance to-day they burned a wagon-bridge over a little river to prevent travel from the neighboring towns and cities.

Four persons are prostrated with the fever there, while three died yesterday. Their names are Dr. Nathan MacKay, Miss Lizzie Henry, and her sister. Over four hundred families had fled the city up to last night. Canton, like Grenada, is surrounded by a good agricultural country and is the largest cottonshipping point on the Jackson route. foreign exchanges. For the quarter ending March 31 there was remitted from the United States to

Great Britain upwards of £87,000, and received from there £17,000, leaving a balance to be remitted in settlement of account of upwards of £20,000. The remittances of the previous quarter, which, including the holidays, is always the largest of the year, aggregated £50,000 sent from this country and £17,000 received from Great Britain. The average quarterly remittances from Germany are about $215,000, and the amount sent thither about $190,000. Switzerland receives from the United States about $45,000, and sends $25,000 here per quarter. Money-order exchanges with Italy have only been in operation since July 1, 1877. The quarterly averages are about $28,000 sent to that country, and less than $2,000 received from thence.

Canada remits an average of about $100,-000 and receives about $75,000, being the only Government with which we have money-order exchanges where the balance is in favor of the United States. This arises from the fact that the system is used between the United States and Canada for commercial purposes, while with the European nations its use is confined almost wholly to social purposes. From Germany, however, considerable sums are sent to heirs is the balances due them in the settlement of small estates, which helps to more nearly equalize the accounts between the two countries .- Washington Republican.
